5//i October PLAYS OF THE WEEK

The plays this past week at the Rose were Tamburlane^ Galtaso, Doctor Faustus, The Ranger's Comedy, The Venetian Comedy^ The Love of a Grecian Lady

6tk October LE ROY'S * OF THE INTERCHANGEABLE COURSE OF THINGS '

Mr Robert Ashley hath translated into English and dedicated to Sir John Puckering, the Lord Keeper, a book entitled Of the Interchangeable Course or Variety of ^Things, first written in French by Loins le Roy

Herein are surveyed the variety of tongues and arts, the state of arms, and learning, of religion in former ages compared with the present, concluding in the last chapter that the truth has not yet been thoroughly discovered, neither all knowledge fore-stalled by our forerunners The learned therefore should add by their own inventions what is wanting in the sciences, doing for posterity that which Antiquity did for us, to the end that learning be not lost, but day by day receive some increase

izth October PLAYS OF THE WEEK

The plays at the Rose this week were Godfrey of Rulloigne, Phtlipo and Hippohto, Tasso, Doctor Faustus, The V enetiai Comedy*

i$th October THE LADY BRIDGET AT COURT

The Countess of Rutland is come to London with the Lady Bridget Mr Tyrwhitt, who has been sick in prison, now begins to sue for liberty and the Lord Chamberlain promises to move the Queen on his behalf

October CAPTAIN ANTHONY WINGFIELD SLAIN

From Brittany the news is that on the 6th October the enemy assaulted the trenches before Croyzon but were beaten back with the loss of 7 or 8 men, but on our side was killed Captain Anthony Wingfield, the Sergeant-Major General, who was shot by a cannon shot from the garrison, as he stood with his rapier drawn, which was by the shot beaten through his bowels

Captain Wingfield hath served the Queen with great reputation in the wars of the Low Countries, Portugal and France It is noted at his last going into Brittany that he so disposed of